WARRANT FOR CONNELL IS ISSUED

Hayes Fined $200 for Killing Over Limit of Ducks on February 1

KEEPER OF GUN CLUB SWEARS TO COMPLAINT

Says Head of Fish and Game Commission Violated the Law Often

This morning Justice Cox issued a warrant for the arrest of M. P. Connell, president of the California Fish and Game Commission, on a charge of killing more than twenty-five ducks on February 8, 1913. Immediately before issuing this warrant, Justice Cox fined Albert H. Hayes of Los Angeles a member of the San Joaquin Gun Club, $200 after finding him guilty of killing more than the limit of ducks on February 1, 1913.

The complaint against the game commission's head is sworn to by J. H. Merritt, keeper of the San Joaquin Gun Club. During the trial of Hayes this morning testimony was given concerning a stormy meeting of the San Joaquin Gun Club members in Connell's office in Los Angeles about the time a warrant was issued here last February for the arrest of Hayes and another club member named Burdick.

"According to what was said at that meeting," said Merritt, "about all of them had been shooting too many ducks."

The warrant for Connell followed the testimony given by Merritt, called as a witness in Hayes' defense.

It was on February 1, 1913, that I. A. Bordner, a deputy game commissioner, swore to the complaint against Hayes and Burdick. He went to the gun club and counted the birds brought in by the only members shooting that day. He says that he heard Hayes say he killed twenty-eight and that Burdick killed thirty-four. The two men carried away from the club only twenty-five pieces. After that Bordner counted up the freshly killed birds left in the duck house, and there were twelve of them still dripping blood after being drained.

Bordner testified that soon after the warrant was issued there was a meeting at the Fish and Game Commission office of the members of the San Joaquin Gun Club. Among the members present were Connell, Hayes, Hollingsworth and Johnson. Merritt was present. Bordner heard Hayes say then that he had killed twenty-eight birds.

From the testimony and talk at the courtroom after the trial, this gun club meeting seems to have been aimed largely at Connell. Connell was evidently accused of having stationed Bordner to catch fellow clubmen. The clubmen came back at Connell at the club meeting with Merritt as chief witness, saying that Connell had killed over the limit. It seems that Hayes objected to being prosecuted while Connell went free. Some of this was only hinted at this morning.

H. I. Pritchard, chief deputy in the game commissioner's office, testified that he heard Hayes say at the meeting that he had killed twenty-eight ducks and Burdick thirty-four.

Attorney F. R. Seaver put Hayes on the stand in his own defense. Hayes said he killed only twenty-five birds but while coming in his boatman, a boy, ran down and killed a crippled duck. He denied making the statements attributed to him by Bordner and Pritchard. O. Nelson, Hayes' chauffeur, helped carry the ducks from the boat to the duck house, and found only twenty-six.

Then came J. H. Merritt, keeper of the club. He said that there were extra ducks hanging in the duck house. "Those were some of Connell's ducks left over from the Saturday before after he took away the limit," said Merritt. "Connell killed more than the limit many times, a hundred times in the five years he belonged to the club. He killed more than the limit the Saturday before February 1 and the Saturday after February 1."

"What's that?" queried Deputy District Attorney Koepsel. "Do you mean M. J. Connell, the chief of the Fish and Game Commission?"

"I mean him. I counted the birds," Koepsel then prepared a complaint, to which Merritt swore.

From the evidence Justice Cox found Hayes guilty, and fined him $200.

The Hayes-Burdick case is famous in local hunting circles. Lacking but two weeks, the warrant was issued a year ago. The first warrant was sent to the Fish and Game Commission of Los Angeles to be served. It was never served. It was reported lost.

50,000 MAY HAVE PERISHED IN ERUPTION

Lava Flow Bridged Three-Mile Channel and Flooded Into City Streets

VOLCANO HURLED GREAT ROCKS 20 MILES AWAY

Ashes Fell in Nagasaki, 90 Miles Distant—Extent of the Disaster Unknown

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—That 50,000 people may have perished are the latest reports from official sources. The last messages from the warship said it was unable to get close enough to the city to learn whether any had escaped or not. Kagoshima, the capital of Satsuma province, is located on an island opposite the volcano three miles distant. The reports say that a lava flow bridged this channel and flowed into the streets of the town itself. The eruption hurled great stones in the air, many falling twenty miles away. The ashes fell thickly at Nagasaki, ninety miles distant. The glare lighted the sky for two hundred miles.

The exodus from Kagoshima began only when the real danger was apparent and flight was difficult, for eight miles from the city the railroad was blocked by a hail of stones and rock from the volcano and the entire trainload of refugees were forced to abandon the coaches and continue afoot. Many who sought escape from the lava streams were trapped in burning forests set on fire by the volcano and burned to death. Early news of the eruption came by telegram from the government operator at Kagoshima who in the face of certain death stuck to his post as long as he was able to send. The last message, which broke abruptly, supposedly with his death, declared him the only person left alive in the town. The city was then afire.

KAGOSHIMA REPORTED

AS TOTALLY DESTROYED

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—Kagoshima, with a population of 64,000 people, was totally destroyed by the eruption of the volcano Sakurajima, according to wireless messages sent from a warship sent to aid the people in the stricken district. It is believed from the tone of the message that thousands perished. The majority of the population was employed in manufacturing Satsuma pottery. Few details of the catastrophe have been learned here, telegraphic communication being disrupted. The only reports that are authentic are the brief bulletins issued by the government following the receipt of wireless news from the warship. One report has it that practically every habitation in Sakurajima Island was leveled by giant rocks from the volcano and that a majority of the population of 16,000 had perished. Kagoshima was being evacuated by a portion of its population when this report was received.

If the inhabitants had heeded the warnings given by many preceding quakes it was thought here that the majority would have escaped, but later reports persistently declare that more than half the population refused to move.

Despite the great distance from Kagoshima, red hot stones and showers of ashes were falling there when the final telegram before the disaster was received. The earthquake had put the railroad out of commission and several houses had been destroyed, with others burned by the hot stones, when the last message was sent. Other towns in the vicinity are reported as destroyed, with a loss of life of more than one hundred. Among others was Moji on the Kiushiu railroad.

5000 AT LEAST PERISHED IS DECLARED BY FUGITIVES
TOKIO, Jan. 13.—That at least 5000 people perished during the volcanic eruption on the island of Sakurajima was declared tonight by fugitives who reached the neighboring and larger island of Kiushiu. They said 10,000 inhabitants insisted on remaining on the island after a series of one hundred earthquakes had warned them of danger. They think that half of these probably escaped.

Reports received tonight indicate that another volcano in central Japan is active.

Hotel Octagon and Residence Wrecked by Recent New Jersey Storm

High waves washed over the New Jersey coast from Sandy Hook to Cape May during a storm which raged on the Atlantic recently. The oil tank steamship Oklahoma was lost and thirty of her crew went down.

But most of the damage was done to the homes of millionaires along the coast and to large hotels there. The Hotel Octagon at Sea Bright was completely destroyed. One residence not far from it was wrecked. The damage had been estimated at several million dollars.

This part of the Jersey coast is really a peninsula, bounded on one side by the ocean and for some distance down by the Shrewsbury river. The land is not more than ten feet above high water in many places. An ordinary high tide does not reach the level of the streets of the towns along the coast. Many New York and Philadelphia millionaires have built magnificent summer homes along the stretch of low beach for many miles. Some are protected by breakwaters, but these succumbed to the high waves and strong wind of the storm.

Now a movement is on foot to build a breakwater along the whole Jersey coast thus unprotected against the storms. An appeal may be made to congress for an appropriation.

$305,427,767 ASKED FOR POSTAL SYSTEM

Appropriation Is Biggest Ever Asked For United States Department

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The post office appropriation bill carrying $305,427,767, the largest amount ever recommended by a committee to run a government department, was reported to the house yesterday by the committee of postoffices and postroads.

The increase over the present appropriation is nearly $22,000,000, which is attributed largely to the additional burden of the parcel post.

Republicans in the house and the minority members of the committee declare that a severe fight will occur over a rider contained in the bill which would give the postmaster-general sweeping powers to discharge assistant postmasters and appoint successors without regard to the civil service law.

It is to be called the Mission Tabernacle, and Rev. John Hockett has been assigned to the new church and will preside at the first service Sunday morning. Yesterday morning not a stick of timber was on the ground to show that a church was to arise on the vacant lot. Yesterday evening a handsome one-story edifice, capable of seating 150 persons, was built, ready for the plasterers. B. J. Vincent, superintendent of the Los Angeles district, was in charge of the workers.

FIRST OFFICIAL FUNCTION OF 1914

President Wilson Will Receive Foreign Diplomatic Corps This Evening

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The first of the year's official social affairs at the White House will be held tonight when the President formally receives the members of the foreign diplomatic corps here. From time immemorial, the President has always opened the official social season with this reception to the diplomats. Of the four big functions, the diplomatic, judicial, congressional, and army and navy receptions, the diplomatic always is the most brilliant. Besides the cabinet officials and their wives, the higher officials of the government and of the army and navy attend the diplomatic reception. The dress uniforms of the service men make a handsome setting with the magnificent and sometimes spectacularly unique dress worn by some of the foreign diplomats, especially those from the Orient.

DOWNPOUR IN FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—A downpour with the force of a cloudburst struck San Francisco yesterday, flooding streets, cellars, stores, tying up traffic and for the moment paralyzing the life of the city.

COLD WAVE IS CIRCLING EARTH

Gale, Snow and Flood Wreak Damage and Suffering on Two Continents

ATLANTIC COAST GRIPPED BY COLD—STORMS AT SEA

Both North and South Suffer; Europe Involved in Storms on Land and Sea

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The cold wave beginning yesterday continued today, resulting in the severest weather of years. The temperature is still falling today. A terrific gale is sweeping the coast and shipping is threatened with heavy damage. Today's early below zero temperatures were as follows:

Little Falls, 20; Saratoga, 20; Oswego, 16; Syracuse, 15; Albany, 14; Lockport, 12; Rochester, 10; Buffalo, 9; Hamilton and Ontario, 18; Toronto, 22. Similar conditions exist in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New England.

The suffering among New York's poor is intense. Charitable organizations are swamped, hospitals are jammed and street accidents are numerous. There were more calls today than the ambulances could handle.

The temperature continued lower this afternoon and promised to reach zero here tonight. Plattsburg reported a temperature of thirty below; Saratoga Lake, forty-two below. At Middletown James Mable froze to death today.

72-Mile Gale Sweeps Boston
BOSTON, Jan. 13.—A 72-mile gale was sweeping Boston today. Heavy shipping damage seemed certain.

STORM TO BENEFIT NORTH AND WEST—HURTS SOUTH

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—The genuine winter weather which descended upon practically all the country east of the Rocky Mountains Sunday night, is scheduled to remain at least two days.

The North and West, with the exception of the hungry and ill-clad people in the cities, who are suffering severely, rather welcomed the hard, freezing weather, as it will be of vast benefit to crops, clear the atmosphere and water, both of which have been murky for months. It will also enable merchants all over the country to unload some of the heavy stocks of winter goods they have had choking their shelves and counters for four months.

But in the southeastern Gulf coast country the freezing weather means calamity. It will practically destroy the orange and grapefruit crops and do vast damage to vegetable and truck farms.

WORST WINTER IN EUROPE FOR A GENERATION

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Central Europe is experiencing the most severe winter in a generation. In eastern Russia, 150 deaths from the cold were officially reported yesterday and stories of peasants devoured by wolves are numerous. St. Petersburg is in the grip of a snowfall of three feet, with communication almost cut off and food supplies low. In Bavaria and Alsace-Lorraine heavy snow storms have blocked railroad traffic and wrecked wires.

Along the low lying Rhine villages watchmen are posted at various points to warn the people whenever the flooded waters reach the danger point. In Switzerland snow has fallen continuously since Friday. The danger from avalanches and floods is regarded as serious. Lake Constance is approaching flood level.

In Belgium the floods are receding, but the snowfall continues. The damage in the flooded districts already is enormous.

In Southern England the temperature dropped suddenly this week close to freezing. Along the east coast the weather is foggy and cold.

THE WM. F. GARMS IS GIVEN UP FOR LOST

PORTLAND, Jan. 13.—The tug Oneonta of the Columbia River fleet is still searching the heads for the schooner William F. Garms, reported Saturday in distress off the Washington coast with twelve men aboard. Although several ships have searched continuously since Saturday night there is no trace today of the William F. Garms, and it seems almost certain that she is lost. The schooner was bound from a Washington port to Mexico with lumber.

STATE EXPENDS VAST SUM FOR EDUCATION

$25,554,919 for Public Schools and $4,000,000 for Higher Schools, 1912-1913

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—California spent $25,554,919 for the education of 441,016 children who attended public schools of the state during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1913. This sum represents an increase over 1912 of $1,576,298.77 and is exclusive of approximately $4,000,000 expended for State Normal schools and the University of California. The figures were announced yesterday by Job Wood, Jr., statistician in State Superintendent Hyatt's office. The total enrollment in the elementary schools for the year was 377,943, of which 197,861 were boys and 180,082 were girls. This represented an enrollment gain of 20,998 over 1912. In the high schools 58,073 pupils were enrolled, of which 26,831 were boys and 31,242 girls. This was an increase of 10,558 pupils. In the kindergarten 5529 boys and 5466 girls were enrolled, a gain of 1882 over the previous year. To teach the 447,016 children enrolled in the public schools last year 14,519 teachers were employed. Of this number 12,380 were women and 2139 were men. In high school instruction 2644 teachers were enlisted, of which 1595 were women and 1049 men. In the elementary schools the number of teachers was 11,553, of which 10,468 were women and 1085 were men. All of the 317 kindergarten teachers were women.

BOTH WERE DRAMATIC.

A Story of Frederick the Great and One of His Officers.

Frederick the Great had a strong sense of the dramatic. So had a certain lieutenant colonel in the Prussian army. Accordingly there is plenty of "plot" in the following story:

The officer, who had been discharged at the close of the Seven Years' war, importuned the king to be reinstated. Weary of the incessant solicitations of his troublesome visitor, Frederick at last gave orders that he should never be admitted to his presence.

Some weeks later a more bitter libel against his majesty appeared. Frederick seldom gave himself any concern about such passages, but the present one exasperated him so much that he offered a reward of 50 Friedrichs of gold for the discovery of the author.

The day following the disgraced lieutenant colonel demanded and obtained an audience.

"Sir," he began, on being admitted, "your majesty has just promised 50 Friedrichs for the discovery of the author of a recent publication. I am come to claim the recompense. Behold in me the unfortunate libeler. My life I forfeit freely, but remember your royal pledge and, while you punish me, send to my poor wife and children the reward due to the informer."

The king, although struck with the sad extremity and self sacrifice of the officer, said sternly:

"Go instantly to the fortress of Spandau and there await my judgment."

"I obey," said the culprit; "but the money?"

"Within two hours your wife shall receive it," said the king. "Take this letter and give it to the commandant, but he must not open it until after dinner."

The lieutenant colonel arrived at Spandau and gave himself up as a prisoner. At the prescribed moment the commandant opened the royal mandate. It ran:

To the bearer I give the command of Spandau. I shall be with him in a few days. The present governor is to take the command of Berlin as a reward for past services. FREDERICK.

DISEASE GERMS STICK.

Hence it is Almost Impossible to Have Really Clean Hands.

That the slovenly habits of ill health of the cooks and waiters who serve us in dining cars, hotels, restaurants and our own homes may be an even greater menace to our health than defective plumbing is the fact brought out by some interesting investigations made by Surgeon Cummins of the British army.

It used to be thought that if our servants' hands—and our own—were washed with reasonable frequency we were safe. But Dr. Cummins shows that even the most scrupulous cleansing will not relieve hands that have been in contact with disease germs from the liability of infecting others. In short, Dr. Cummins declares that so long as we live in this world of dirt and microbes our hands can never be really clean.

To prove his contention Dr. Cummins dipped the tip of his forefinger in a liquid containing millions of typhoid bacilli. The finger was next rinsed in an antiseptic solution, then in very cold water and then in water that was almost boiling. After all this cleansing it was washed in a small quantity of sterile water. This water when analyzed showed no less than 313 colonies of typhoid bacilli.

Not satisfied with this discouraging proof of the utility of clean hands, the doctor proceeded to soak his infected finger tip in pure alcohol. Then he washed it again in sterile water. This time the analysis of the water revealed four colonies of typhoid bacilli.

Another experiment made by Dr. Cummins was to rest a typhoid laden finger tip for just an instant on the surface of a bowl of soup. The soup was then allowed to stand for twenty-four hours. When finally analyzed it revealed nearly 40,000 typhoid bacilli to every cubic inch.—New York American.

Getting Ahead of Father.

"Pardon me, Mr. Brassey, but it is 11:30, and I am obliged to say good night."

"You consider 11:30 a late hour?"

"It isn't that so much, but father is lying awake upstairs trying to think of funny things to say about you—like 'Why didn't you ask him to stay to breakfast or bring in the milk or sweep off the porch?' and I'm not going to give him any such opportunity. Good night!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

UNITED PRESS WON CONTRACT BREACH SUIT DECISION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—By a federal supreme court decision dismissing an appeal from Circuit Judge Munger's court, the United Press on Monday won its breach of contract suit against the St. Louis Star-Chronicle Company.

In the lower tribunal the United Press was given $7554 damages for the Star-Chronicle Company's attempt to break its contract for a news service in 1910 and for service rendered in 1908 and 1909. Chief Justice White rejected the appeal for lack of jurisdiction and denied a petition for a rehearing.

The case did not affect the now St. Louis Star, the Star-Chronicle's successor.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Thick

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Advertisement.

"GO-TO-CHURCH DAY" AT CHICAGO—PHONE TO REMIND 360,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Church bells were adequate in the days when an entire community was within hearing distance, but in these days, when church-goers may live ten miles from the church they attend they are to be supplanted by the more modern telephone bell.

Sunday, February 1, has been decided upon here as "Go-to-church day," when every able-bodied person will be urged to attend services, and negotiations are now on to have the telephone company call every one of its 360,000 subscribers at 9 o'clock Saturday night and remind them to attend church the following day.

BASKETBALL GAME AGAINST WHITTIER

ORANGE, Jan. 13.—The center of athletic interest will be found this week in the basketball game Friday evening between the Whittier Athletic Club and the Orange Athletic Club fives, the game being scheduled on the local court.

There has always been intense rivalry between these two basketball centers and a meeting between Orange and Whittier teams is well worth traveling a distance to witness. This year should prove no exception as both towns are turning out champion squads and rivalry is as keen as ever. Two games will be played, one in this city January 16, and one at Whittier January 21.

McBurney, the giant center, Castor and Sharpless, guards, and Hood and Redman, forwards, have gained great fame for Whittier. They will be faced by Hart and Putnam, forwards, Pine, center, and Pister and Slater, guards, a combination that has kept Orange in the limelight in basketball matters for several years. A hot game is in store when the two teams get together, and local fans are agog over the prospects.

The death of Mrs. Thomas Hall of South Orange street, this city, took place yesterday. Mrs. Hall was the widow of the late Thomas Hall and was a pioneer resident of Orange. Her death took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Boring.

SERUM APPLIED TO BRAIN THROUGH HOLES IN SKULL

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—A remarkable operation, the first of its kind ever performed in this country, was performed yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital. It consisted of the direct application of serum to a diseased brain through holes bored in the skull of the patient, and marks the latest daring step in medical science in the treatment of cerebral disease heretofore considered incurable. The patient, a man of 51 years, was suffering from paresis. The operation was performed by Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby.

POLICE TRAILING I. W. W. MEN ACCUSED OF ARSON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Long before the last spark was extinguished of the fire which destroyed $250,000 worth of high-grade lumber, sheds and equipment of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company at San Pedro yesterday, the police were on the trail of two men believed to have been the authors of the blaze. Both men are known to be members of the I. W. W. fraternity in sympathy with the desperate efforts made during the last year to unionize the great open-shop concern, one of the largest lumber companies on the coast. Both men are believed to be in hiding in Los Angeles.

A PLAGUE OF RATS

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—To combat the plague of rats with which the town of Loewenberg, Saxony, is suffering, the authorities have ordered that "all citizens shall spend the interval between 3 and 4 p.m. every Thursday in strewing the floors and walls of their dwellings, stables and out-houses with phosphorus and arsenic." Heavy penalties are provided for those who fail to obey the order.

CABINET OFFICIALS MAY SEE GROWERS

Houston and McAdoo Invited to Attend National Orange Show

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 13.—To discuss with the citrus fruit men of California their great industry, David A. Houston, secretary of the Department of Agriculture, and W. A. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, have been invited by the National Orange Show to meet the producers of California's great wealth here.

An effort will be made to arrange the presence of the cabinet officials at the same time that the members of the California Press Association, who are to be guests of the National Orange Show, are in San Bernardino.

If the cabinet members can arrange their proposed trip through Southern California to be in San Bernardino during the Orange Show, February 13 to 25, leading fruit men of the state will be invited to banquet with them, and tour the citrus fruit belt by automobile.

Harry Perkins, general manager of the Orange Show, is this week touring Southern California citrus fruit districts, arranging the final details for the exhibiting of the respective districts' choicest fruits in competition for the world's prizes.

YORBA LINDA GROWERS MET

Citrus Association in New Orchard District Elected Directors

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 13.—The annual meeting of the Yorba Linda Citrus Association was held at the Yorba Linda church Saturday, Jan. 10, and was well attended. Many were present from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Whittier and other places.

In the morning was a brief business session for the appointment of committees, then followed a sumptuous luncheon served in the new school building by the Yorba Linda ladies, and here good feeling and cheer reigned supreme.

At 1 p.m. the church was well filled with an attentive audience who greatly appreciated an able address of Mr. Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Exchange, in which he clearly set forth the working system, the general plan of creating citrus markets, marketing fruits, and the splendid results achieved by the Exchange. His address was a school of instruction.

Mr. Huntington of the Riverside Experimental Station discussed at length the different materials of fertilization, and the value of their use. The election of directors followed, resulting in the harmonious election of Emory Albertson, N. W. H. Bertram, Fred Johnson, A. R. Marshburn, A. J. Morris, C. H. Seamans and Ralph Shook. The newly elected board met immediately and organized by selecting Emory Albertson president, W. H. Bertram, secretary and treasurer; A. R. Marshburn, vice president.

While the tellers were counting the votes the president called upon Mr. Seamans, secretary of the Yorba Linda Water Users' Association, for an informal report of the doings in the Santa Ana court room which had taken place the previous day. Mr. Seamans, who attended the session, gave a clear, concise report of the arguments had in Judge Thomas' court.

The most successful annual meeting of the Citrus Association was then dismissed in due form.

Arist Spoke
Mr. A. Montgomery, the celebrated "Farmer Painter," with Mrs. Montgomery and their daughter Gloria, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Seamans over Sunday. A number of friends gathered Saturday evening to enjoy the acquaintance of the guests.

The pastor of the Yorba Linda church, W. H. Bertram, extended an invitation to Mr. Montgomery to give the address Sunday evening, and the invitation was cheerfully responded to.

There was a splendid audience which gathered in deep appreciation of the evening's treat. After the usual congregational singing and prayer, Mr. Seamans made a few very suitable and touching introductory remarks, speaking from his long and close acquaintance with the artist.

Mr. Montgomery's address was an eloquent comingling of sermon, lecture, humor, education and poetry. He spoke for more than an hour from the subject: "Religion in Art," and when he closed his splendid address with the recital of a beautiful poem, the audience sat in perfect silence wishing that in some way the speaker could be induced to continue.

Even after the meeting was dismissed by the words of fervent appreciation of the pastor, the people would not leave, but gathered around the speaker and feasted their eyes on the few magnificent paintings which he had brought with him, and after a pleasant season of personal acquaintance and revelry in art the audience dispersed to their homes.

The executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Society immediately engaged Mr. Montgomery for a return engagement to take place in the near future for the purpose of acquiring funds for a piano.

WATCHES THE CLOUDS.

One New Yorker's Easy and Well Paid, but Important, Job.

There is one man in New York who would seem to hold an easy and unique job. From Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 he puts in his whole time watching for clouds from the top of one of the tallest skyscrapers. He does nothing else, is well paid if he performs his duty vigilantly and has no one to boss or hustle him around—except the clouds. For tools he works with a telescope, and he can smoke, read poetry or do what he pleases, provided he keeps his weather eye keenly peeled for the first sign of a storm cloud sweeping down the Hudson. On that rests his whole job, for should a thunderstorm catch him napping it would mean a serious strain on the leading electric light and power company.

In no other city but New York do conditions make for such a contingency. Owing to the compact construction of the huge blocks of downtown skyscrapers an enormous amount of electric light is suddenly demanded whenever the sky becomes darkened. Thousands of bulbs are simultaneously switched on. At nightfall this need for light is easily calculated, but no certain provision can be made against the sudden overshadow of a storm cloud other than by stationing a lookout man on the top of a skyscraper. Consequently when he sees a cloud sweeping down the Hudson or advancing from any other direction it is his business to watch its approach carefully.

Therein he must use a bit of judgment. If it is likely to sweep clear of the city he need not bother about it. But should he reckon it will pass over Manhattan it is his business to telephone the chief power station a warning that a storm cloud is coming. At once a red light glows in the engine room, and the stokers hustle to shovel coal into the furnaces. Presently the huge generators revolve at greater speed to supply the emergency demand for electricity. Thus when the thousands of lights are switched on downtown few are likely to guess how the sudden call for light has been met.

Meanwhile the cloud watcher is in no fear that a mechanical device will deprive him of his job, for the weather instrument that can record just the direction a cloud will take in sweeping on toward Manhattan is yet in the dim future of invention.—New York Tribune.

Course of the Panama Canal.

There is a somewhat popular delusion about the Panama canal—to wit, that the course from Colon, on the Caribbean or Atlantic side of the isthmus, to Panama, on the Pacific side, is from east to west. Of course the Atlantic is at the east and the Pacific is at the west, but the isthmus is very crooked and at this point tends from a little south of west to north of east, and Colon is actually farther west than Panama. As a result the canal runs from north-northwest to south-southeast, and on reaching the Pacific one finds himself farther east than he was when he left the Atlantic. Queer, isn't it, to go westward by going eastward? But it's a geographical fact, all the same, which few realize until they study the map.—New York Tribune.

Canine Etiquette.

In their relations one with another dogs have a keen sense of etiquette. Unless they are on very intimate terms they take great pains never to brush against or even touch one another. For one dog to step over another is a dangerous breach of etiquette unless they are special friends. It is no uncommon thing for two dogs to belong to the same person and live in the same house and yet never take the slightest notice of each other. We have a spaniel so dignified that he will never permit another member of the dog family to pillow his head upon him, but with the egotism of a true aristocrat he does not hesitate to make use of the other dogs for that purpose.—Henry C. Merwin in Atlantic.

No Canes For Actors.

There is one profession that has always refrained from carrying a walking stick. The actor knows well that on the stage he must walk without extraneous support, and he knows that the mere hint of a walking stick in his hand as he walks the streets is a temptation to lean this way or that. Actors, even when out of a job, never lean on a stick. They know that their balanced walk is their asset. If the whole of society recurs to walking sticks the actors will refrain.—London Chronicle.

Not Even Bent.

Little Eric had dropped a basket containing some eggs on his way home from the grocery.
"How many did you break?" asked his mother.
"I didn't break any," replied Eric, "but the hulls came off two or three."—Chicago News.

Tomato Seed Oil.

An excellent burning oil has been extracted from tomato seeds. These, with the skins, are thoroughly dried in the sun. The seeds are then crushed in a hydraulic press and yield a thin yellow oil. This when burned in a lamp gives a bright, odorless light.—London Mail.

"He's so good now that he's shocked by the gowns she wears."—Boston Transcript.

NEW LYRIC THEATRE GROWS IN FAVOR

Many Changes and Improvements Made Under Its New Management

The Lyric Theater, which is the name given to the old Mirror Theater when it passed into the hands of the present manager on the first of the year, has been treated to a complete renovation inside and out and now presents a very attractive appearance. The lobby is finished in white enamel and when the dozens of incandescents which adorn it are turned on of evenings, the front is a brilliant glow of white.

But, not only in the house and management have there been changes, for the shows themselves are wherein the most radical changes have been made. No more cheap vaudeville, and no longer does the gaily bedecked chorus girl pirouette across the stage. All these passed with the old name, the old front and the old management.

The Lyric is strictly a moving picture theater and the manager sees to it that only the latest and best of photo plays, picture dramas, and scenes depicting the important events of the world, are thrown upon the canvas. The pictures for each and every performance are selected with great care and it is required that they be refined and instructive as well as entertaining. It is a place of amusement where parents may send their children without fear, as the manager makes a specialty of looking after the little folks, and the pictures are always moral, refined and instructive.

There is a complete change of program four times each week, on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Doors open at 1 p.m. daily, and there is a continuous performance until closing time at night. The admission is 5 cents, afternoon and evening.

The Lyric caters especially to the best people of this community, believing that the wholesome entertainment it offers is what the best people want.

J. G. Knapp, the manager of the Lyric, is present at every performance to see that every courtesy is shown patrons, and in this he is assisted by his son, Don W. Knapp.

Piano music at all afternoon shows is furnished by Miss Jane Shaich and during the evening performance by Mrs. G. F. Andrist, both of whom are clever musicians.

The operating room at the Lyric is in charge of S. T. Bullock, chief operator, with L. P. Davis as assistant. Two of the most modern moving picture machines are used and it is quite common for patrons to remark: "The pictures are the clearest we have ever seen."

Mr. Knapp, with his family, consisting of his wife, a son and two daughters, came here from Fitzgerald, Georgia, of which place he was mayor for three years. They have apartments at the Colonial on South Main street and expect to make Santa Ana their permanent home.

Under Mr. Knapp's efficient management the Lyric is growing steadily in popularity, and there is every reason why it should continue to grow. The high quality of the entertainment with the low price of admission, are factors that cannot fail to bring success. Even now the house is nearly always comfortably filled at most of the performances and during the early evening there is usually a number of people waiting for the next performance.—Advertisement.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.

PROGRESSIVE REORGANIZATION

As might have been expected, for the reason that we all cannot see things alike and for the further reason that whatever action might be taken would be an innovation in political practices, those present at the Progressive meeting Saturday were divided on the matter of the selection of the membership of the new Progressive committee. Some thought it more in keeping with the spirit of the new Primary law, that will not be put into practical operation until next August, to have the members of the committee selected from supervisory districts instead of from the various precincts, thereby terminating the official duties of the old committee; while others were of the opinion that, as the members of the old committee were elected by the people to serve until a new committee be elected by the people under the new primary law, it would be better to retain the old committee in office under the name "Progressive." The latter opinion having prevailed by a standing vote, we do not hesitate to say that all those believing in the good work of the Progressive administration, and having faith in the continuance thereof, will all stand together as one man in re-electing Governor Hiram Johnson.

There is some confusion in the minds of voters as to just what must be done under our laws in order to effect a party reorganization in California.

It must be borne in mind, first of all, that there is no legal Republican or Progressive State Central Committee in California today. What was the Republican State Central Committee was recently dissolved, and its members taken over by the Progressive party into an illegal, but not an illegal, organization. In some counties, Republican committees still exist. In others, like Orange, they have been dissolved. County and State Central Committees are elected every two years. They are to be elected this year. The procedure, under the present election laws, is this:

County committees are elected by a county convention which meets not more than two weeks after the primary election. Delegates to the county convention are elected at the primaries, in each county. At the foot of the last column of the official primary election ballot of each party, blank spaces are provided in which may be written or pasted the names of candidates for delegates to the county convention.

As to the State Central Committee, a convention, consisting of the nominees of the party for state and legislative offices (except school and judicial offices), together with holdover state senators of the party, meets at Sacramento three weeks after the primaries and elects a State Central Committee, composed of at least three committeemen from each congressional district.

There is nothing to prevent any state or county organization or group styling itself State Central Committee or County Central Committee, as the case may be; but our election laws absolutely prevent such groups from acting officially or having any legal status. While we are reliably informed that the National Committees have recognized no organization as a State Central Committee, such recognition, even if extended, could not establish, officially or legally, any committee not elected at the convention referred to.

DEATHS OF CHILDREN BY BURNING

While fatalities from burning are but a minor fraction of the mortality from preventable causes, they are sufficiently numerous to warrant an attempt to prevent them. This is especially true of deaths of children from burning. In this country there are few available correct statistics on the subject. In England, however, it is different; there the statistics are not only dependable, but available. Dr. Brend has compiled and analyzed the data regarding deaths of children from burning. The results are reprinted and commented on in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. From the years 1906 to 1911 he found that up to the age of 1 there were 214 boys and 234 girls burned; from 1 to 4, there were 1,663 boys and 1,818 girls; from 4 to 5, 368 boys and 775 girls; from 5 to 10, 389 boys and 1,427 girls, and from 10 to 20, 80 boys and 630 girls. It is at once evident that there is a marked difference between the mortality of boys and girls. This difference is probably due to the different type of clothing worn by the two sexes. Up to about the ages of 2 and 3, boys and girls are dressed alike. From 3 to 4 the boys put on the simpler made attire and there is an abrupt and marked fall in the mortality from burning. There has been much condemnation of the material known as flannel, which is a very inflammable cloth, although from the figures quoted it would seem that it is not so much the material as the style of clothing which leads to loss of life. For other reasons as well, namely, freedom of movement, better hygiene and general cost of clothing, there would seem to be a demand for a further simplification of the manner of dressing girls, particularly those of the younger ages.

ORANGE COUNTY OF NEVER FAILING CROPS

[MIDWINTER NUMBER OF LOS ANGELES TIMES]

With citrus fruits bringing in $3,500,000, double the amount realized in 1912; with walnuts worth more than ever before in the history of the industry, with no less than $5,750,000 produced by oil wells, with sugar beet growers and growers of other products feeling prosperous, Orange county has every reason to boast that its people are the most contented on earth. Not only has substantial prosperity been realized in the pouring in of gold from markets to the pockets of farmers and orchardists, but it has been shown also in many projects of public enterprise.

Chief among the accomplishments of the year 1913 has been the beginning of the construction of a good roads system. Within the year $1,270,000 bonds were sold for county paved roads, and $400,000 state bonds were bought by Orange county bankers for building the state highway through the county from the north line to the south line.

Of the 107 miles provided for in the county system, contracts have been let, and some of the sections completed for forty miles of as fine highways as there are in the West. In addition to this, the contractors are at work upon eleven miles of state highway between Santa Ana, the county seat, and the county line a La Habra.

Good roads are appreciated in this section, and well they may be, for recent statistics show that per capita Orange county has more automobiles than any other county in the state.

The county seat spent $30,000 for a concrete bridge across the Santa Ana river on West Fifth street, and has accepted plans for a concrete bridge at Olive that will cost double $30,000. Other substantial bridges have been built at San Juan Capistrano, Orange and Talbert.

Tax Rate Comfortably Low
Fortunately the county has but few people of the indigent class, but that those few may have the best of care a county farm of seventy-five acres was bought at West Orange, and a group of cottages has been erected upon it. The farm is also the site for a fine concrete hospital, now being constructed, that will cost $60,000.

All these projects and others are being carried out on a tax rate exceedingly low, $1.05 per $100 of assessed valuation inside incorporated cities and $1.45 outside cities, a reduction of 5 cents from the rate of the previous year. Out of fifty-eight counties in the state, only six have rates as low as Orange county's. The total assessed valuation of the county this year is $48,185,593, which is an increase of about $5,000,000 over 1912.

New Record for Citrus Prices
This was the greatest year in the history of the citrus fruit industry. A few years ago the growing of oranges was recognized as the peer of the numerous industries of this agricultural and horticultural section, but for two years past the sugar beet industry has been disputing the leadership. This year the citrus fruits held first place, excepting oil, because of a combination of circumstances.

There was a cold snap last winter, and while many orange-growing sections of the country were unable to ship their oranges, this county was able to ship fruit guaranteed free from frost damage. With protecting hills, the citrus sections of the county suffered little damage, and while other sections shipped few oranges and lemons, the packing houses of Orange county were busy sending fine fruit to market and getting extraordinary prices. The receipts of the year as shown by packing house books total $3,500,000.

No more convincing testimonial of the county's climate could be found than the story of the orange and lemon in 1913. Valencia oranges, the citrus fruit queen, were shipped as late as November 1, while Navel shipments began December 1.

Diversified Resources
Orange county does not live by oranges alone, nor yet by sugar beets, or oil, or walnuts. Among the crops that bring high returns are walnuts, good for $1,450,000 per year; eggs and poultry, $1,300,000; sugar, made by five first-class factories from sugar beets, $5,000,000; Lima beans, $800,000; hay and grain, $1,000,000; potatoes, $700,000; celery, $250,000, and a dozen other crops that bring in upward of $50,000 each.

When crops and prices are good, Orange county is sure to be prosperous, and in 1913 no county of California had better seasons.

Traffic men put the California walnut crop this year at 19,200,000 pounds and 40 per cent of California's walnut crop is grown in Orange county.

From one end of the county to the other new orchards are coming into bearing and new orchards have been set out. Each year finds pasture and grain ground turned into land for raising Lima beans or sugar beets, and lands used for several years for annual crops being turned to orchard. It is this process of growth that marks much of the development of the splendid little county, the smallest of the southern counties, year by year.

Subdivision of twenty-acre and thirty-acre tracts into two or three farms each has been a characteristic step in the growth of the county. Land that supported one family now supports two or more families.

Water Development
Water development through the installation of pumping plants has spread the area of orchard lands. In the old days only that land that could be easily irrigated by gravity flow from the river and creeks was planted to orchard. Now pumping plants are found in all parts of the county. The water is brought up from beneath the surface of the earth.

In the county, however, are varied soils and conditions, and while portions of the county hunt for water, in the rich lowlands it is shunned. By systems of drainage, the richest lands on earth are made tillable, and tremendous crops of sugar beets, beans and potatoes are raised. The yields are almost unbelievable.

Schoolhouses are an evidence of enterprise. Measured by that standard, Orange county stands high. In the last year Santa Ana has completed a $225,000 Polytechnic High School, Fullerton a $100,000 Polytechnic High School, Orange has added $50,000 buildings to its High School ground, El Modena built a $50,000 school, and Ocean View has put up a $25,000 house, while Tustin has voted $50,000 bonds for a new schoolhouse.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—There is today in New York a three-week-old baby who deserves to live for one hundred years, if there is any law of compensation. The vicissitudes through which the youngster has lived since he was ushered, an unwelcome guest, into this world would indicate that he has a future before him.

Somebody threw a paper shoe-box into a vacant lot the other day. Perhaps that was cold design and not fate. Some school boys were playing around a bon-fire in the lot. One of them picked up the box and threw it into the fire. That was either fate or mischief. Another boy, prompted apparently by nothing, pulled the box from the fire before it had been more than scorched on the edge. That certainly was fate.

The fire had unloosed the box lid and the boys saw inside a bundle wrapped in a newspaper. Again they threw box and bundle away. Another boy poked the bundle. That was fate again, unmistakable, knocking at the door this time. The bundle revealed the baby. The boys thought the youngster was dead and were for leaving it and running away, when one boy insisted on taking the baby to a nearby undertaker's shop. Fate again. The undertaker found signs of life and hurried the baby to a hospital, where the little fellow soon revived and proved to be sound in every way. The child has not been identified.

The multitudes of Greater New York have a Daily Temple, the doors of which will never close and in which religions of every denomination and sect may hold services and discussion. The little unpretentious building in East Thirty-second street was made possible by the enterprise and generosity of Miss Elizabeth Knott, and will be open daily and nightly to the wear through Catholics, Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, United Brethren, Unitarians, Christian Scientists, Buddhists, Confucius followers, Quakers, Seventh Day Adventists, Latter Day Saints—any and every kind of believers who hold meetings in the Daily Temple. It is the plan of the promoters to make the unique chapel a sort of religious clearing house, where devotees of various sects and beliefs may meet and discuss their varying creeds and tenets.

An instance of the kind of thing for which the Daily Temple was built occurred on the night of its formal opening, when W. T. Wei, a Chinese student in Columbia University, read from the writings of Confucius and discussed them. He was followed immediately by Miss Knopf's young woman secretary, who read several chapters from Isaiah. Woved ayoub, a young Turk studying in Columbia University, then read from the Khoran. He in turn was followed by the secretary, who read from the chapters of St. Paul, offsetting the Mohammedan readings, as her chapters from Isaiah were opposed to the teachings of Confucius, read by the Chinese student. Miss Knopf then read from Robert G. Ingersoll's "Vision of the Future."

For the present the Daily Temple will hold nightly meetings for the discussion of announced subjects picked out by Miss Knopf; that is, one week will be devoted to the discussion of each subject, the same topic being taken up each night in the week. But after the initial discussion, the meeting will be open to all who desire to say anything. The voluntary speakers may discuss any phase of any religion that appeals to them. "The Daily Temple is my gift to all who want to use it," Miss Knopf said. "Never will there be a collection taken and nobody, of any creed or belief shall ever be turned away."

A wealthy New Yorker who said he was "tired of climbing stairs," has engaged an entire floor of a costly new apartment house not far from Central Park. On one floor, with an elevator approach, he has thirty rooms. The apartment house is one of the largest in Manhattan, covering an entire square so the man who wanted to escape stairways has street exposure, air and light on four sides, something that the multimillionaire owners of Fifth avenue palaces are unable to command. Tired of living in detached houses where his home was scattered over three, four or five stuffy floors, necessitating endless stairways, and worn out with the distractions of life in an ordinary apartment house, where he had to rent two or three suites and had stairways to climb, the man set out to look for a dwelling place all on one floor.

In New York, where ground sells for a fortune a front foot, the problem of having a 30-room dwelling on one level seemed like a large order. But not to this New Yorker. He found an apartment house to his liking that was not quite completed. All that was not quite completed, all of the minor partitions had not been put in. He sought out the agents and the builders and made a contract for the whole eighth floor, to be divided according to his own notions. Accordingly he now has the whole house, palatially equipped and all on one level. And the cost is only the combined rent of the several apartments that the floor would have contained. His rent is much less than a 30-room dwelling in any other shape would cost.

TREMBLER AND TIDAL WAVE INUNDATE CALLAS PORT

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 13.—The seaport of Callao was inundated yesterday by a tidal wave, accompanied by an earthquake lasting fifty-five seconds. No loss of life is reported. The naval school at La Punta and some of the hotels were flooded. Telegraphic communication between here and the coast was interrupted.

PUNISH THE RICH CONVICT EQUALLY WITH POOR ONE

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Governor Glynn declared last night that a millionaire convict should receive no more consideration than a pauper convict and consequently denied the application of Daniel H. Tolman, the loan shark king, that he be relieved from serving the two months and a half balance of his sentence in the penitentiary on Hart's island, if he agreed not to collect usurious interest on $500,000 in notes.

MONROVIA MAY BE SITE FOR 4000-CAR BUICK FACTORY

MONROVIA, Jan. 13.—D. D. Buick, formerly of the Buick Auto Company, conferred with board of trade committeemen yesterday relative to building here an automobile manufacturing plant. He proposes a company capitalized at $1,000,000, and asks a subsidy of a twenty-five-acre factory site and a stock subscription to be specified later. He was requested to make his proposition in writing.

Mr. Buick's plans provide for a factory capacity of 4000 cars per year. He holds that he can compete with eastern manufacturers for the trade west of Denver.

INSTALLED OFFICERS

Sycamore Rebekahs Witnessed Ceremonies and Partook of Officers' Banquet

Sycamore Rebekahs installed new officers on Saturday night, with District Deputy President Mrs. Sarah Flowers as installing officers, aided by Mrs. H. Bishop and an installing staff. A large number of members and visitors from Santa Ana, Minnesota, Oregon and Nebraska witnessed the impressive ceremonies. The retiring noble grand, Mrs. India Cozad, presented each of her staff with a box of delicious candy, and presentations of cut flowers were made to the noble grand, vice grand, the deputy president and the grand marshal.

Following the installation, the large company adjourned to the banquet room, where an appetizing supper, given by the retiring officers, was spread on tables adorned with fern sprays intermingled with dainty pink flowers, emblematic of the lodge colors.

The officers who were installed on Saturday night are as follows:

SANTA ANANS AIDED

Mrs. Flowers and Mrs. Bishop Helped at Orange Rebekah Lodge Installation

An important event in Orange lodge circles taking place Friday night was the joint public installation of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of that city, and several of Santa Ana people were prominent in the impressive exercises.

The affair took place at I. O. O. F. Hall and was attended by more than two hundred people, and the installation work for both lodges was conducted in admirable style. Mrs. Sarah Flowers of Santa Ana, district deputy Rebekah president, aided by Mrs. H. Bishop of Santa Ana, conducted the Rebekah installation with a precision born of long familiarity with the degree work.

Preceding the installation exercises was a splendid address by Mrs. Fannie M. Lacy of Santa Ana, who is vice president of the Rebekah Assembly of California. Mrs. Lacy is a past mistress in fraternal addresses and was most cordially greeted. Other prominent Rebekah and Odd Fellow speakers spoke briefly.

The installation exercises were followed by a banquet where appetizing oysters, a variety of salads and many other good things to eat were served.

AMUSEMENTS

THE STOCKING

Slimsy Article Plays Large Part in the World's Affairs

For so slimsy a thing the stocking plays a large part in the world's affairs. When empty it has come to stand as the emblem of poverty, and yet when filled it is the cause of as much trouble as the charms of Helen of Troy, or as any other famous beauty in love's tragic register. There are few magnets so powerful in their pull on the masculine eye as a stocking in its proper place, few things that bring such constant relief to the legendary tired business man as a whirl of stockings covering the legs of nimble, graceful and shapely performers, which appear with Billy Clifford at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, Jan. 15. Silk stockings have broken up homes.

To wear stockings is so general a custom that to omit this article is to win permanent fame, as in the case of Jerry Simpson. And yet the wearing of them and the omission of the practice, in recent instances, set all the world of two of our best known watering places agog. Last season, while Mr. Clifford was playing Newport, a lady in search of the bauble sensation-making appeared at the Casino wearing a white stocking and a black one, with shoes of the same hues to match. Newport dropped all its intellectual discussions and gave itself over to argument as to whether it should take up a fad which seems to have been copied from the color scheme of the Winter Garden. "Society" seems to have committed the common theatrical sin of "stealing our stuff."

Another case of stockings was at Atlantic City, where the edict has gone forth that hereafter all femininity that goes bathing must wear these essentials to the complete costume. If Atlantic City nymphs in following this rule, should take up the Newport custom, it will be difficult for some men to make out whether they are looking at barber shop totem poles or channel buoys.

Intermediate H. S. Notes

[By Carl F. Burns]
The school sang "Dixie Land" this morning, dueted by Miss Burns, with Miss Roberts, the oral expression teacher, at the piano.

The entertainment tomorrow night will start at 7:30 sharp. The other entertainment that was given was surely a success and it is hoped this one will be a success also.

Miss Wilson, the reading teacher came to school for the first time this week as she was sick yesterday. Mr. Beswick, the arithmetic teacher, asked Theodore Young if he had ever broken any records. A serious look came over Theodore's face as he answered: "All the records I ever broke were phonograph records." The class joined in on the chorus as he had told the truth.

A marriage license was issued in Los Angeles yesterday to Wallace C. Cheney, 21, and Suzanne L. Jordan, 24, of Whittier.

Woman Heads New York's Great System of Prisons

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The selection of Miss Katherine B. Davis as the correction commissioner of New York city by Mayor John Pursey Mitchell, who took office at the beginning of the year, throws into the hands of a woman the management of a prison system which is more important than that of many states. Miss Davis—Dr. Davis—will, for instance, have charge of the Tombs, New York's famous city prison. The county penitentiary will also be under her control.

Here will be a chance for reform such as few women have had in the history of the world. The Tombs is one of the worst mismanaged institutions of the kind. Favoritism of all kinds flourishes. Perhaps every crime known, some of them the most bestial, is committed within its walls, unchecked by calloused keepers. Opium smuggling is one of the regular industries. Bribery is the commonest crime. No favors may be obtained without paying for them.

ANAHEIM TO MEET HUNTINGTON BEACH FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Anaheim High School and Huntington Beach High will battle for the county basketball championship at the Poly athletic field tomorrow afternoon at about 3 o'clock. As Santa Ana has the only neutral court in the county, that is included, the county league officials decreed that the game should be played here. Huntington Beach defeated Orange here a week ago in the semi-final round and earned the privilege of meeting Anaheim in the final scrap.

The game last week was very well attended and the local student body cleared over $50 after the expenses were paid. The game tomorrow will be well worth seeing and besides the rooters from the two rival schools, Santa Ana will furnish a good sized crowd. Support is about evenly divided in the high school here.

Anaheim was over last Saturday to hold practice on the court. They held a speedy workout and are in good condition for the game. Huntington Beach played a fast game last week and with an even break of luck expect to have a shade of advantage over the league leaders.

MURDER CASE EVIDENCE OLD GARCIA FREED

Man Accused of Killing Jose
Molino Arrested at El Centro

Jacinto Garcia, charged with the murder of John Molino in Santa Ana in 1908, will be turned out of the jail at El Centro. District Attorney West finds that the evidence is in such shape that conviction would be hopeless.

Molino's murder was unusually brutal. His head was beaten with rocks, and his body was hauled on to the Santa Fe tracks near Santa Clara avenue. The body was found before a train arrived. Garcia and his son disappeared and reached Mexico. The son was returned and was sent to prison for attempting to kill Luis Manzo, who was shot two hours before Molino was killed.

Garcia was arrested at El Centro by the city marshal of that place on information given by a Mexican who knew Garcia.

Stole a Bicycle

W. R. Coleman, the bicycle dealer, is responsible for the capture of a bicycle thief who says his name is Albert Davis. The bicycle belongs to the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Fuller of the Madison Apartments. Yesterday Davis went to Coleman's shop and offered the wheel for sale for $6. Coleman thought it was the bicycle reported stolen. He paid the money, then rode the bicycle to the Madison and had it identified. He returned, found Davis and arrested him. This morning Davis pleaded guilty to the theft, and Justice Cox sent him to jail for ninety days.

APPOINTMENT FOR GARDEN GROVE POST OFFICE UP IN AIR

Huntington Beach May Have a Change Sooner Than Expected

The appointment of postmaster at Garden Grove is not going to come forth as smoothly as was predicted last week. For a time it looked as though the withdrawal of J. D. Price and George Reburn in favor of Charles Emerson, a hardware merchant, had settled the matter, but instead of settling it, those withdrawals have only tended to stir the tranquil waters.

Brentlinger of Garden Grove is reported to be after the job, and Frank C. Thompson, another Democrat, is said to have backing for the appointment. Officers of the Democratic Central Committee are up in the air, and they seem to have come to the conclusion that the best thing they can do is to do nothing for awhile. It seems that Emerson has lived in the Garden Grove section but a short time, and some of the Democrats favor either Brentlinger or Thompson largely for that reason. Thompson was a central committeeman at Orange for years before he moved to his ranch at Garden Grove five or six years ago.

While Garden Grove is having its troubles, Huntington Beach seems about at the end of its stir over its postoffice. Congressman Kettner has recommended the appointment of T. C. De Lapp, and that may mean a change in the post office at Huntington Beach sooner than had been expected. Postmaster Clippenger's term is not up for about a year, but with Kettner's recommendation, local Democrats expect to see De Lapp put in before the term is up.

Finney at Tustin still has clear sailing, and will probably slide into the appointment without a contest.

CITY HALL IS PROPOSED FOR GROWING CITY

Committee to Make Report for
Basis of Calling Bond
Election

ORANGE, Jan. 13.—As a preliminary step to calling for a bond election, Trustees E. H. Smith and W. G. Hagen were appointed as a committee last night to make an estimate upon how much it will cost to secure a site and build a city hall such as Orange ought to have. This city has grown rapidly, and the people believe it is time that the city have its own city hall instead of meeting in rented property and occupying crowded quarters.

Trustees Dittmer and Richards were named as a committee to see if the Southern Counties Gas Company is going to include Orange in its reductions when natural gas is secured. Other cities supplied by the company have been told that they will get a rate of seventy-five cents per 1,000 cubic feet. If Orange does not get what it wants, the matter will be referred to the Railroad Commission.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

WERDIN TELLS ABOUT CHARGE HE MADE

Today Judge Sloan of San Diego is hearing the evidence of the defense in the $10,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. W. H. H. Clayton of Orange against E. R. Werdin. The plaintiff asks damages on the ground that Werdin maliciously charged her with being insane.

Werdin was the chief witness today. He testified to having seen letters written by Mrs. Clayton and to conversations that he had had led him to believe her insane.

Jury Disagreed

Standing eight for acquittal and four for conviction, the jury that tried James Bryant on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was discharged by Judge West. The case will come up Friday for disposition, and it may be dismissed. The real offense committed by Bryant was striking N. Hatfield in the mouth with a gun over a quarrel as to who killed a duck on October 1 in the marshes near Sunset Beach. For that Bryant paid a fine of $100 before the matter got to the district attorney's office. Subsequently a prosecution was brought on the ground that Bryant threatened F. M. Fender, a friend of Hatfield, as Bryant was backing away from the scene of the fracas.

Drink in the Old Days

Authorities in England formerly took pains that the Londoner should not miss his full share of ale. In the sixteenth century, for instance, the brewer who ceased to brew was faced with the loss of his business. Thus, if the mayor got wind of "any of the said brewers, of their frowarde and perverse myndes, shall at any time hereafter soderly forbear and absteyne from buynging, whereby the king's subjects should be destitute or unprovided of drynke," he knew exactly what to do. The city council was empowered to take over the business as a going concern and to take measures to see that it was kept going.

The city then and for centuries after was all for beer. There is record of a petition of 1673, for instance, praying that tea, coffee and brandy be banned. The petitioners reasoned that the laborers needed "good strong beer and ale," which "refreshed their bodies and neither did them prejudice nor hindered their work."

Besides, it cost little and was the product of home-grown grain, whereas the new fangled drink was expensive and destroyed his majesty's subjects, "not agreeing with their constitution."

Eggs and Energy

We of today are more careful of the nutritive values of our food than were our ancestors. The stress and strain of modern times entail that duty upon us. Whether we are healthier or happier is a question.

As a food eggs have always been valued. It is not generally known, however, that to brain workers and to those whose work demands concentration of their thinking powers there is no bigger nerve-feeder than the humble egg.

Scientists aver that a chemical substance called lecithin is vitally important to the life of the nerve center. It is the undue expenditure of this substance that causes brain-fag and general nervous collapse.

Many nerve specialists prescribe lecithin to their patients, the dose being fifteen grains a day in all. The yolk of an average egg contains sufficient nerve tonic to enable the functions of the brain to keep at concert pitch.

MILLIONAIRE IS PROGRESSIVES AT GIVEN 5 DAYS CAPITAL ARE IN JAIL STIRRED

Richard McCreery Shares Fate of Penniless Chauffeur for Speeding

Lissner Tells of Movement in Los Angeles for Johnson-Eshleman Ticket

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Richard McCreery, San Francisco and San Mateo multi-millionaire, was sentenced here to five days in the city jail for speeding in his automobile. Police Judge Shortall passed the sentence. McCreery was driving at a speed of 33 miles an hour when arrested by Patrolman Milliken.

"I have never been arrested before and I never had an accident," McCreery told the court. He pleaded guilty.

"Well," said Judge Shortall, "I am not going to wait until you do have an accident. Last week I sent a penniless chauffeur to jail for five days for speeding, and I don't see why you should be treated differently. What is your business?"

McCreery grinned. "Why, your honor, I have no business," he replied. "I am a capitalist."

The millionaire was thunderstruck when the court ordered him to jail for five days without the alternative of paying a fine.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Progressive politics are stirring here today as the result of a visit here by Meyer Lissner, a Los Angeles Progressive leader.

After a meeting in the governor's office, attended by many leading Progressives, Lissner said that a concerted effort was being made in Los Angeles to induce John Eshleman, president of the State Railroad Commission, to be Johnson's running mate. He said it is likely that Eshleman will accept.

This statement is believed here to set at rest reports that State Treasurer Roberts will be a candidate for the Progressive nomination for lieutenant governor.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN COUNTY'S LECTURER

A personal letter received by an employee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce from Miss Rose A. Clifford, a well known lecturer, formerly of Los Angeles and now of Chicago, has the following in praise of D. W. McDannald, Orange county's representative at the Chicago Land Show, held recently:

"I wonder if visitors appreciate the amount of hard work, worry and weariness that such an exhibition means. The lecturers have eighteen consecutive days, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., talking to visitors, lecturing once, twice, sometimes three times a day, and the trying Chicago weather generally makes them ill.

"Mr. McDannald is so kindly and pleasant he has made hosts of friends here and has done much valuable work for Orange county and California. After both of his lectures that we heard people complimented him, and his lecture certainly is fine, beautiful pictures, interesting information and a good arrangement of the facts that strangers need. You could hear a pin drop when the beautiful eastern snow scenes were contrasted with the magnificent California scenery."

Wilson's Talk on Currency Law

President Wilson, after signing the currency bill and enacting it into law what he declares "is the second great constructive achievement of the Democratic administration," delivered an address on the subject. The President said:

"I need not tell you that I feel a deep gratification at being able to sign this bill, and I feel that I ought to express very heartily the admiration I have for the men who have made it possible for me to sign this bill. There have been moved forward, I think that we owe special admiration to the patience and the leadership and the skill and the force of the chairman of the two committees; and behind them have stood the committees themselves exercising a degree of scrutiny and of careful thought in this matter which undoubtedly has redounded to the benefit of the bill itself. Then there has grown, as we have advanced with this business and the great piece of business which preceded it, evidences of team work that to my mind have been notable indeed. Only constructive action, only the enthusiasm which accomplishes something, filled men with the enthusiasm of co-operation, and I think that at this session of Congress we have witnessed an accumulating pleasure and enthusiasm on the part of the membership of both houses in seeing substantial and lasting things accomplished.

"It is a matter of real gratification to me that in the case of this bill there should have been so considerable a number of Republican votes cast for it. All great measures under our system of government are of necessity party measures, for the party and their majority is responsible for their origin and their passage; but this cannot be called a partisan measure. It has been the cordial co-operation of men on the other side of the two houses who have acted with us and have given very substantial reasons and very intelligent reasons for acting with us. So that I think we can go home with the feeling that we are in better spirits for public service than we were even when we convened in April.

"As for the bill itself, I feel that we can say that it is the first of a series of constructive measures by which the Democratic party will show that it knows how to serve the country.

"In calling it the first of a series of constructive measures I need not say that I am not casting any reflections on the great tariff bill which preceded it. The tariff bill was meant to remove those impediments to American industry and prosperity which had so long stood in their way. It was a great piece of preparation for the achievement of American commerce and American industry which are certain to follow. Then there came upon the heels of it this bill which furnishes the machinery for free and elastic and uncontrolled credits, put at the disposal of the merchants and manufacturers of this country for the first time in fifty years. I was refreshing my memory on the passage of the national bank act, which came in two pieces, as you know, in February 1863, and in June, 1864; it is just fifty years ago since that measure, suitable for that time, was passed, and it has taken us more than a generation and a half to come to an understanding as to the readjustments which were necessary for our own time. But we have reached those readjustments. I myself have always felt when the Democratic party was criticized as not knowing how to serve the business interests of the country that there was no use of replying to that in words. The only satisfactory reply was in action. We have written the first chapter of the reply.

"We are greatly favored by the circumstances of our time. We come at the end of a day of contest, at the end of a day when we have been scrutinizing the processes of our business, scrutinizing them with critical and sometimes with hostile eye. We have slowly been coming to this time which has now happily arrived when there is a common recognition of the things that it is undesirable should be done in business. What we are proceeding to do now is to organize our peace, is to make our prospect not only stable, but free to have an unimpeded momentum. It is so obvious that it ought not need to be stated that nothing can be good for the country which is not good for all of the country. Nothing can be for the interest of the country which is not in the interest of everybody, therefore the day of accommodation and of concession and of common understanding is the day of peace and achievement of necessity. We have come to the beginning of that day. Men are no longer resisting the conclusions which the nation has arrived at as to the necessity of readjustment of its business. Business men of all sorts are showing their willingness to come into this arrangement, which I venture to characterize as the constitution of peace. So that by common counsel and by the accumulating force of co-operation we are going to seek more and more to serve the country.

"I have been surprised at the acceptance of this measure by public opinion everywhere. I say surprised because it seems as if it had suddenly become obvious to men who had looked at it with too critical an eye that it was really meant in their interest. They have opened their eyes to see a thing which they had supposed to be hostile to be friendly and serviceable—exactly what we intended it to be, and what we shall intend all our legislation to be. The men who have fought for this measure have fought nobly. They have sincerely fought for those accommodations which are going to secure us in prosperity and in peace. Nobody can be the friends of any class in America in the sense of being the enemy of any other class. You can only be the friend of one class by showing it in the lines by which it can accommodate itself to the other classes. The lines of help are always the lines of accommodation. "It is in this spirit, therefore, that we rejoice together tonight and I cannot say with what deep emotions of gratitude I feel that I have had a part in completing a work which I think will be of lasting benefit to the business of the country."

To Refund Gas Payment

The Southern California Gas Company has asked the Superior Court of San Bernardino County for leave to release to consumers of the company's gas approximately $5000, which represents the difference in the former price of $1.15 and the present $1 rate, the excess having been held up by the Court several months since.

Oil Exhibit at Exposition

"California will some day be the center of the liquid fuel production of the world." This is the declaration of Dr. Irving C. Allen, petroleum chemist of the United States Bureau of Mines, who was one of the guests of honor at a banquet of the American Chemical Society in Los Angeles. Another guest was Dr. Charles E. Van Barneveld, director of the Department of Mines and Metallurgy of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Both these gentlemen are urging an oil congress at the fair. It is the intention to have working oil wells and mines at the fair. As outlined by Dr. Van Barneveld, the exhibit will be a mountain, having a peak 35 or 40 feet high, and a base of 120 feet square, with the exhibition space at the foot divided into quadrants, in which will be exhibited a placer mine, a model dredge, a quartz mine, a copper mine and an oil field, probably a facsimile of the Midway. Everything would be an exact reproduction and mechanically perfect, so that every phase of mining and oil development could be shown.

In that there is no State appropriation for such an exhibit, it is proposed to ask the supervisors in every county having either mining or oil industries to contribute to such an exhibit, the cost, according to Dr. Van Barneveld, in the rough, would be probably $15,000, and the exhibit $75,000. With what remains other features of mining could be shown he said.

"The object," he said, "is not to advertise these industries, but to educate the world in the resources of California. That California is not in need of advertising its oil fields and its mines was shown by the statement that this State is producing $40,000,000 of oil a year, and last year its mining industry added more than $90,000,000 to the purchasing power of the State. The congress is for the exchange of ideas and knowledge of the science of petroleum, to discuss ways and means of conserving crude oil and natural gas, of adding to the efficiency of its products—in a word, of adding to the world's knowledge on this great subject."

The scheme has the hearty endorsement of practically all the oil men in the State.

Crops of the World

Figures on the world's production for the present year, cabled to the Department of Agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, including the principal countries of the Northern Hemisphere, are as follows:

All wheat, 3,569,000,000 bushels, being 8.9 per cent more than last year; all rye, 1,823,000,000 bushels, 1 per cent less than last year; barley, 1,524,000,000 bushels, 7.7 per cent more than last year; oats, 4,571,000,000 bushels, 2.3 per cent more than last year. The foregoing includes the production in Austria, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Spain, France, Great Britain and Ireland, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Roumania, Russia in Europe (63 Governments), Switzerland, Canada, United States, India, Japan, Russia and Asia (ten Governments), Algeria and Tunis.

The total production of sugar beets was 54,992,000 short tons, 2.5 per cent more than last year; in Belgium, Denmark, Spain, France, Italy, Netherlands, Roumania, Switzerland, Canada, United States, Prussia and Hungary.

The total production of cleaned cotton was 9,296,000,000 pounds, 2.1 per cent more than last year, in the United States, India, Japan and Egypt.

Buys Highway Bonds

The California State Board of Control bid in $1,800,000 of 4 per cent State highway bonds at par and accrued interest when State Treasurer Roberts called for bids Monday afternoon. The board will keep $600,000 of these bonds for an investment for its own funds, but will dispose of the remainder, orders for nearly all having been received. Contra Costa County took $190,000 of these bonds, the proceeds of which will be expended by the highway commission in building the portions of the State highway planned for Contra Costa County. Kern County is to take $200,000 more bonds.

Living Costs Less

The cost of living in New Jersey in 1913 was not as high as it was in 1912, according to the annual report of George C. Low, chief of the State Bureau of Statistics and Labor, recently submitted to Acting Governor Taylor. In 1912 the cost of a test bill of goods was $14.60, while in 1913 the same goods cost but $13.63, or a seven per cent decrease. The reduction, the report said, was due to a great extent to a remarkable decline in the price of potatoes. There are many persons, however, who do not care to live in Jersey.

Postal Savings Deposits

On the 30th of June last there were 331,006 depositors in the Postal Savings Banks who had $33,818,870 to their credit. These official figures are given out by the Third Assistant Postmaster General in his annual report. Two years and a half ago, when the first six months after the establishment of the system ended, the number of depositors was 11,918 and the total deposits $677,145. Wonderful growth is therefore shown.

Argentine Beef Invades America

Concerted action is now being made to invade the American market with practically unlimited supplies of dressed beef, mutton and lamb by the largest independent meat concerns in Argentina. The first shipment, 17,000 tons, arrived in New York, Tuesday, from the Sansinena Company, an experimental shipment, and every pound was sold to twenty butchers in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Three shipments per month will be made in the future.

Dog Teams Carry Gold

Ten tons of gold, cast in bars weighing 100 pounds each, and valued at $750,000, are being brought by dog teams from the Yukon to Southwestern Alaska, and thence by steamship to Seattle. Six dog teams are required to move the metal.

Taxpayers and Bond Schemes

Thus far petitions, containing 20,563 names have been received at the Secretary of State's office that in bond elections none but taxpayers be allowed to vote. In order to place the question upon the ballot only 31,000 names are needed, and it is more than likely that voters will have opportunity to vote upon the amendment.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
Butter was the most active staple on the market yesterday morning. Receipts were not unusually large, only 20,000 pounds, but they were of size sufficient to supply the demand, as evidenced when it was found impossible to hold the market even up to 23 cents.

A big quantity sold at 23 1/2 and the close finally came at 28 cents. There is a big surplus of second grades obtainable and prices on this are weak. There is considerable discussion at this time as to the possibility of passage of the new oil laws, which will admit that product under the name of margarine to sale without taxation. The interests manufacturing this butter substitute during the past three years have been fighting to have the present tariff, which they claim prohibitive, reduced. The entire elimination would make also a strong competitor in the market again, as it was before the agitation of the creamery interests shut it out. The bill demands also that all oleo shall be packed in uniform packages, ranging from one-half to five pounds, and that it shall be properly stamped and marked and that all public consumption must be shown. The egg market again advanced, going to 45 cents on case count from 43. This is in conjunction with the rise in eggs in the East and in the North and is also the cause of decreasing consumption, which is essential with the present small supply to draw from. Receipts were 160 cases yesterday.
